Home to PROBUILDER'S BUILDER OF THE YEAR!

Schell Brothers received the highest recognition for a builder in North America, ProBuilder Magazine's 2023 Builder of the Year.

We are humbled and thrilled to announce that Schell Brothers has been awarded the highest honor for a builder in North America: ProBuilder Magazine's 2023 Builder of the Year! Each year, ProBuilder seeks out one company serving the building industry above and beyond the call and acknowledges them on a national level. This is an honor we've only dreamed about until now, and we cannot thank our customers and partners enough for helping us inspire others and achieve this goal.

people CONNECT HERE

WITH NATURE,
WITH ONE ANOTHER

Here in Hendersonville, meaningful and memorable connections are made daily. Lifelong residents share greetings – and share coffee - with newcomers from across the country looking for the idyllic lifestyle they found here. Even though the legendary Johnny Cash famously made Hendersonville his home 50 years ago, more people are discovering our little secret just north of Nashville, nestled among the banks of Old Hickory Lake. We're proud of everything that makes our home uniquely charming, full of life, and naturally beautiful. But don't take our word for it. Come experience all we have to offer for yourself.

The Chamber Foundation is the 501(c) (3) non-profit arm of the Chamber whose mission is to provide educational resources to the Hendersonville community. Fundraising for the Foundation is obtained through personal and business donations, advertising sales for the City Guide and the annual Freedom Festival event held every July 3.

a letter from OUR PRESIDENT

Welcome to Hendersonville, TN. - the City by the Lake:

The city of Hendersonville offers an amazing place to visit with countless things to do, see and enjoy and a beautiful place to live with bountiful opportunities and a quality of life second to none.

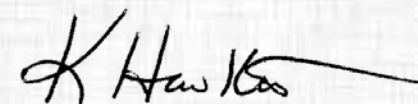

We know the key to a successful community comes from a deep sense of civic pride combined with hard work and resolve of the people who live and work there. There is ample evidence that kind of determination is found in Hendersonville from the forward thinking business leaders, to caring neighbors, and people at all levels who take great pride in shaping the city they love. This City Guide will reveal the uniqueness of Hendersonville, setting it apart as an ideal place to raise a family, work, play and do business.

Location is a key to Hendersonville and boasts an attractive city surrounded by lake beauty and rural landscape and is centrally located in the mid-state as well as the eastern half of the U.S. Close proximity to 3 interstates creates easy access to a local regional airport, metro airport and the big city amenities Nashville offers only located 16 miles down the I-65 corridor. Miles of trails and hundreds of acres of parkland attract outdoor enthusiasts and sports teams from around the mid-state and beyond.

Hendersonville has a clear sense of its own identity; a city coming into its own as it develops into a thriving business center with a rapidly growing base of professionals. Hendersonville has been the choice of business owners across the nation seeking to relocate or start their business in an exceptional environment. It has been the home to many world renowned entertainers and continues to attract artists and entrepreneurs seeking an ideal lifestyle.

Now, with the highest population in Sumner County, Hendersonville's future growth is being well planned with the dedicated foresight of city leaders. Shopping destinations offer a blend of uniquely exquisite local shops and restaurants along with a substantial mix of nationally recognized businesses. Enriched by a variety of cultural amenities and recreational opportunities on water and land, there is much to see and do in Hendersonville. "The City Guide" is powered by the Hendersonville Area Chamber of Commerce and was designed, photographed, written and produced by local people with an inherent love for this community. We hope you visit soon!

REPRESENTATIVE WARDS AT CITY HALL

Hendersonville is governed by a non-partisan elected Board of Mayor and Aldermen with 12 aldermen representing six wards. The map below illustrates those six wards.

a letter from OUR MAYOR

I am proud to be the mayor of the best city in the best state in the best country in the world. You are going to find that Hendersonville has exceptional schools, wonderful opportunities, and a population of professionals.

Among our residents, we have people in professional careers in several areas. The most common are:

- 4,600 in management
- 2,400 in healthcare
- 2,000 in business and financial
- 1,200 in IT
- 1,000 in architecture and engineering
- 500 in legal

Many of these people are currently commuting to Nashville and would welcome opportunities to work closer to their Hendersonville homes. We have an environment that's ripe for businesses looking to expand or relocate.

Being closer to home means employees are closer to their families. You will see pictures of those families and what draws them here within the pages of this magazine.

Many of these families recently decided to make Hendersonville their home. They moved from other parts of Tennessee and other parts of the country. They like what Tennessee has to offer and what Hendersonville provides.

Please check out their stories and find out more about the exceptional City of Hendersonville.

Better yet, come visit.

honoring OUR HISTORIC PAST

PRIDE IN TRADITION AND LANDMARKS

With Nashville to the south and Gallatin to the east, Hendersonville was a comfortable midpoint for a farming village along Highway 31E. Where the highway met Walton Ferry Road and Old Shackle Island Road, a handful of businesses sat within walking distance of a hundred homes.

Old Hickory Dam converted the quiet village into The City by the Lake. It created two peninsulas, widened Drakes Creek, and formed scenic coves that gained attention. Musicians and industry executives noticed the transformation early. At the same time, the nation's population was shifting to suburbs and to the Sun Belt. To handle the growth, several long-time residents led an effort to form a city government. They succeeded in 1969, by forming the smallest city in Tennessee, just 262 residents and .18 square miles.

New residents usually found Hendersonville after landing professional jobs in Nashville. Between them and rapid annexations beyond the original city borders, Hendersonville was the fastest growing city in the nation during the 1970s. Johnny Cash, Conway Twitty, the Oak Ridge Boys, Roy Orbison, Mandrell sisters, and other country favorites were meeting neighbors who appreciated exemplary schools, active churches, and weekends of recreation.

With a concerted effort in the 1980s and 1990s, Hendersonville began keeping its talent at home during weekdays. The city and chamber of commerce constantly encouraged residents to shop local. They also assisted existing companies that needed to expand while they recruited other businesses from far away. The city opened Freehill Business Park. Filling quickly with industrial and assembly plants, the park's success generated investments in nearby class A office space.

The professionals who lived here found more opportunities to work here.

Additional professional employers, completion of Vietnam Veterans Boulevard, and continued population growth brought a wave of retailers and restaurants. By setting their buildings along New Shackle Island Road and Indian Lake Boulevard, they extended the community beyond its iconic linear stretch of Highway 31E.

The city annexed new homes north of Vietnam Veterans Boulevard and east to Saundersville Road, areas that had once been considered far outside Hendersonville. The newest subdivisions added parks and pools while the city cleared land for dozens of playgrounds and team sports. The lake remained an attraction.

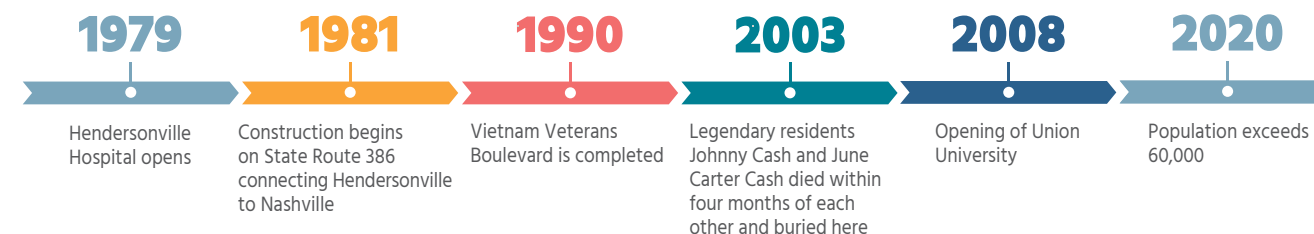

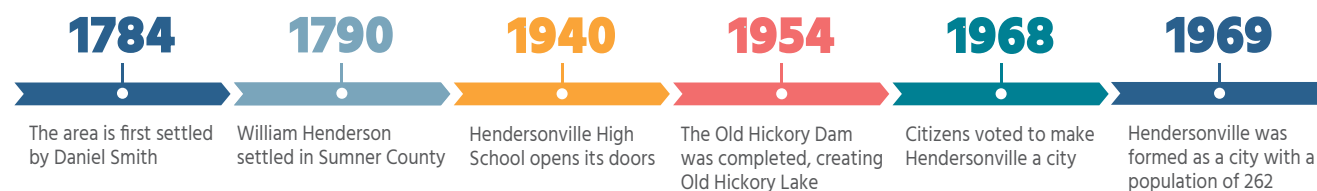

The visiting athletes and customers noticed Hendersonville's attributes. More moved here and opened businesses. One transplant, Taylor Swift, shot toward stardom. The Streets of Indian Lake opened, bringing additional outsiders to Hendersonville for their first time.

The city's population climbed above 60,000 as it celebrated the 50th anniversary of becoming a city.

The Tennessee Department of Tourist Development proudly recognizes Hendersonville as being the home of Johnny Cash.

Monthaven is on the National Historic Register. Built around 1860, it was used as a field hospital during the Civil War. The building is now home to art galleries and offices of the Monthaven Arts & Cultural Center.

PARKS, GREENWAYS AND RECREATION

Were it not for the creation of Old Hickory Lake, Hendersonville could well be known as “the City of Parks” instead of its current nickname, “the City by the Lake.” Hendersonville is home to a unique network of parks that encompass hundreds of acres of woods, fields and recreational facilities.

Hendersonville residents are fortunate to be able to take advantage of some of the most beautiful parks in the country. Local sports teams, runners, swimmers and many others enjoy the parks and green spaces on a year-round basis.

However, locals are not the only ones who visit our parks and greenways. Each year, our parks system plays host to thousands of visitors who come to the area for a variety of sporting and musical events. From softball and soccer tournaments to the annual Freedom Festival and Sumner Fest events, the parks provide outstanding venues that draw tourists.

COUNTRY HILLS GOLF COURSE 1501 Saundersville Rd

The 18-hole course at the Country Hills Golf Course in Hendersonville, Tennessee features 6211 Yards from the Blue. The course rating is 69.7 and it has a slope rating of 120. Designed by Leon Howard, Country Hills Golf Course opened in 1990.

DRAKES CREEK PARK 120 East Main Street

Drakes Creek Park is one of the city’s busiest green spaces, attracting thousands of locals and tourists each year. Home to Hendersonville High School’s soccer and baseball fields, the park also boasts many additional amenities, including softball fields, playgrounds, basketball goals, sand volleyball courts, picnic shelters and a walking/running trail. Every July 3, Drakes Creek Park hosts the annual Freedom Festival that draws tens of thousands of visitors to Hendersonville.

HENDERSONVILLE GREENWAYS & TRAILS Throughout Hendersonville

Hendersonville’s greenways and trails are among the most utilized facilities in the park system. Integrated with both Drakes Creek Park and Sanders Ferry Park, the greenway system is home to thousands of runners, walkers and cyclists each year. Over time, the greenway expanse is expected to grow, offering safe and convenient recreational opportunities to citizens throughout the city.

HENDERSONVILLE RUGBY PARK 1693 Avant Lane

The Rugby Park is the latest addition to Hendersonville’s complement of athletic fields and facilities. It provides game and practice fields to meet the need of the area’s recreational rugby clubs.

MEMORIAL PARK 151 East Main Street

Located across the street from Drakes Creek Park, Memorial Park is host to a variety of recreational facilities, including a tennis complex, the Kids’ Kingdom playground and a dog park. A popular fishing hotspot for Drakes Creek, Memorial Park is also home to two of the city’s scenic attractions, the Friendship Bridge and Friendship Island. Each December, the park hosts the city’s annual Christmas Tree lighting ceremony.

SANDERS FERRY PARK 513 Sanders Ferry Road

Sanders Ferry Park is another popular destination for recreation enthusiasts in the City by the Lake. The park offers a wide variety of amenities, including an 18-hole disc golf course, a radio-controlled airplane field, picnic shelters, an entertainment pavilion and walking/ biking trails. Sanders Ferry Park also features a certified cross-country running course that hosts several high school and middle school running events each year. Each August, the park also hosts the annual Sumner Fest music and balloon festival.

VETERANS PARK 144 Scotch Street

Veterans Park is one of Hendersonville’s most high-profile recreational facilities. Visible from Highway 386, the park represents one of the first views of the city for many visitors. Home to Beech High School’s softball field, Veterans Park also hosts the city’s two inline hockey rinks as well as a skate park. Its scenic walking and biking trails draw exercise enthusiasts on a regular basis. In late 2018, Veterans Park became the home of Mary’s Magical Place, the city’s all-inclusive playground for all children and their families.

VOLUNTEER PARK AT ARROWHEAD 1334 Drakes Creek Road

Hendersonville’s newest facility is conveniently located adjacent to the entrance to Knox Doss Middle and Dr. William Burrus Elementary schools. It has a brand new state of the art “covered” In-line Hockey Facility and other features available to the community - offering the community more than just hockey.

WARRIOR BIKE TRAIL Saundersville Road

The Warrior Bike Trail is located on Saundersville Road close to nearby Veterans Park. The trail was developed as a joint effort between the Hendersonville Public Works Department and local trail biking enthusiasts. Nestled within a scenic wooded area, the park offers approximately 1.5 miles of trails that are suitable for riders of all ages.

PROUDLY SUPPORTING
HOMETOWN BUSINESSES IN THE CITY BY THE LAKE

The foundation of every city's economy is dependent upon the health and vitality of its core small businesses. Operated by our friends and neighbors, local companies help shape and support the character of our community. It has been proven time and time again, when consumers shop locally, everyone wins.

"When people spend their money in Hendersonville, it provides a multiplying boost to our economy that results in more choice and variety for consumers," says

Hendersonville Area Chamber of Commerce President/CEO Kathleen Hawkins.

"Nearly 50% of the money spent in our city recirculates right here, helping our businesses to grow and our community to thrive."

Along with supporting small businesses, shopping locally also benefits government coffers by increasing sales tax collections.

This financial boost helps Hendersonville city leaders provide more services to the citizenry, while keeping property taxes as low as possible.

"Purchasing from local businesses has a profound and measurable effect upon local tax revenues. When shoppers buy locally, they are helping to grow our city for the future," said Hendersonville Mayor Jamie Clary. "Our tax collections fund vital important community needs, including infrastructure, public safety, schools and recreational facilities. Furthermore, each of these service areas also create local jobs, which are paid for through our sales tax."

In recent years, Hendersonville has become a shopping haven, with a wide variety of locally owned boutiques and service businesses spread across the city limits. Most of the businesses are located in four key commerce districts – West Main, Glenbrook, East Main and Indian Lake.

West Main Business District

The West Main business district is a unique combination of retail shops, specialty stores, restaurants and manufacturing firms that many consider to be the original heart of Hendersonville. Visitors from across Middle Tennessee flock to this area to enjoy the city's marinas, parks and recreational facilities.

West Main is also an important destination for area shoppers, who are attracted to such businesses as Brian's Motorsports, Biker's Choice, Lili Bella's Bakery, TNT Watersports, Ace Hardware, Ultimate Party Super Store and the Monthaven Arts & Cultural Center.

Glenbrook Business District

The Glenbrook business district is home to a wide range of retail and service firms, as well as being the city's healthcare hub, including TriStar Hendersonville Medical Center. At its core is the Glenbrook Shopping Center, a 150-acre site featuring several large anchor tenants, including Target, Kohl's, Staples, Petco and Kroger. These big box retailers include Costco, which is located between the shopping center and TriStar Hendersonville.

Along with the big box retailers, Glenbrook also has many locally owned specialty companies that have developed loyal followers. Businesses such as Puckett's Restaurant, Once Upon A Time By Amy, Results Physiotherapy and Sport Ortho Urgent Care help give the Glenbrook district its unique character.

East Main Business District

The East Main district is a diverse area of town, featuring a large number of businesses, governmental entities and nonprofits interspersed between residential neighborhoods. The area is home to City Hall, Bluegrass Yacht & Country Club, Spring Haven Mansion, Trinity City and the Sumner County Family YMCA.

Shopping and personal services opportunities abound along the East Main corridor that runs from Indian Lake Road to Vietnam Veterans Boulevard. Popular businesses include Gammons Market, Half Batch Brewing, Christian Brothers Automotive, Hendersonville Animal Hospital and Bluegrass Beverages.

Indian Lake Business District

Hendersonville's newest hive of business activity is the Indian Lake business district. Spanning a spacious area bounded by Indian Lake Boulevard, Vietnam Veterans Boulevard and Saundersville Road, the district is filled with residential, recreational, educational, dining and shopping opportunities. Notably, Indian Lake is home to the Hendersonville Greenway, Union University, the Warrior Bike Trail, the Hendersonville Public Library and the Regal Indian Lake theaters.

From a shopping perspective, the centerpiece of the district is the Streets of Indian Lake, a beautiful outdoor shopping center that also serves as the heart of many city activities, including summertime concerts and the Hendersonville Farmers & Artisan Market. Retail and service opportunities at the Streets include national companies like Chicos, Lane Bryant and Bath & Body Works, local boutiques and restaurants like, Lilamama, Birdie Bros, Handle's Homemade Ice Cream, and Fleet Feet.

Whenever a product or service is needed, smart shoppers start and end in the City by the Lake.

excelling IN EDUCATION

WHERE LEARNING
AND ACHIEVEMENT
COME FIRST

Fortunately, Hendersonville is blessed with some of the best public and private schools in the state of Tennessee. From kindergarten through high schools, Hendersonville children have a wide range of outstanding educational options. In addition, Hendersonville is able to boast of a comprehensive array of higher education options, ranging from advanced certificates through fully-accredited doctoral programs.

SUMNER COUNTY Public Schools

Hendersonville is served by multiple elementary, middle and high schools which are operated by the Sumner County Board of Education. Each school is dedicated to ensuring that all students receive well-balanced educations that help to prepare them for their futures.

While Hendersonville schools place a strong emphasis on academics, they also provide students with multiple avenues for exploring music, the arts, athletics and extra-curricular activities.

Public Elementary Schools

Hendersonville is served by thirteen of the best elementary schools in Middle Tennessee. With caring faculties and strong community support, each of these schools is committed to help their students learn and achieve.

Two of the schools, Jack Anderson Elementary and Dr. William Burrus Elementary at Drakes Creek, have been designated STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Mathematics) schools.

Public Middle Schools

The middle school grades of six through eight are often among the most challenging periods faced by young learners. They can be awkward years in which students struggle, trying to bridge the gap between childhood and young adulthood.

Hendersonville's seven middle schools are committed to helping their students succeed during these years. Their dedicated faculties will help young teenagers continue their academic progress as they prepare for the rigors of high school.

Public High Schools

Older students in Hendersonville are fortunate to be served by five of the best public high schools in the state. Whether they attend Hendersonville, Beech or Station Camp, students will receive excellent educations with unparalleled extracurricular opportunities.

Each of the schools has a track record for graduating seniors who are well prepared for whatever opportunities await them, including college, trade school, the military or immediate employment.

Merrol Hyde Magnet School is a traditional academic school with a primary focus on foreign language. It is accredited by the Tennessee Department of Education and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. The school operates under the Paideia philosophy, which blends traditional classroom training with specialized Socratic seminars and individual projects. Admission to Merrol Hyde Magnet school is a rigorous process that requires students to meet special acceptance criteria. Most applicants are typically in the top 15% of their class at their previous schools prior to coming to Merrol Hyde Magnet School.

SUMNER COUNTY

The Sumner County Middle College High School is operated on a collaborative basis by the Sumner County Board of Education and Volunteer State Community College.

The unique program is designed to give highly-motivated students opportunity to receive a high school diploma while earning credits toward a college degree or exploring vocational and career options. Most students earn enough college credits to graduate with both a high school diploma and an associate's degree at the same time.

Private Schools

Along with its outstanding public schools, Hendersonville is also served by private schools that offer parents and students additional choices, including Pope John Paul II, which enrolls over 600 middle and high school students. Additionally, Hendersonville Christian Academy is a private school which enrolls more than 300 students from pre-K through high school.

HIGHER learning

COLLEGE EDUCATION
OPTIONS ARE VARIED
AND ABUNDANT

Over the past decade, there has been an explosion in higher education opportunities in the State of Tennessee. Beginning with the Tennessee HOPE Scholarship in 2003 and continuing with the Tennessee Promise (for recent high school graduates) and Tennessee Reconnect for (returning adult students) programs, there has never been a more affordable time for state residents of all ages to pursue their dreams of higher education.

The continued growth of educational opportunities has placed Hendersonville residents in the unique position of being able to go from preschool through a doctoral program, all without ever having to leave the City by the Lake. The educational journey that begins in Hendersonville can lead to a gateway to the world.

Union University

Originally founded in 1823 in Jackson, Tennessee, Union University established its local presence in 2008, operating out of vacant space in Hendersonville's First Baptist Church. From 2008 until 2010, Union only offered graduate programs in Christian Studies and education through its church campus. During 2010, the university began offering an adult bachelor's degree completion program in Hendersonville under the direction of Dr. Renee' Dauer, who currently serves as the local Campus Director and Dean of the School of Adult and Professional Studies.

In 2012, Union relocated to a new dedicated 24,000 square-foot facility on Indian Lake Boulevard. Following this move, the university began offering many new undergraduate and graduate programs.

Currently, these programs include undergraduate and graduate programs in nursing, graduate programs in education, an associate degree in professional studies, and two bachelor's degree programs for adult students in organizational leadership and Christian leadership. Union also offers several degree options entirely online, including an AACSB-accredited Master of Business Administration degree.

According to Dr. Dauer, over 95% of Union's nearly 300 students served by the Hendersonville campus are considered full-time, with ages ranging between 22 to 60 years old. One exception to this age demographic is for students enrolled in Union's traditional nursing program. Through a partnership with Welch College in Gallatin, traditional-age students complete their first two years of college at Welch and then transfer to Union's Hendersonville campus to complete their final two years to earn a Bachelor of Science in Nursing.

The university follows the traditional three term school year (fall, spring and summer semesters) but also offers five accelerated terms throughout the year that allow students to earn hours through concentrated short-term instruction. Per Dr. Dauer, "Union strives to meet people where they are in life and help them navigate the path to finish a degree in their desired field of study. We help people reach their goals, changing their lives, changing their family's lives and changing their community."

Volunteer State Community College

Founded in 1971, Volunteer State Community College (Vol State) is the oldest institution for higher education located within the county. Located just minutes from Hendersonville in Gallatin, Vol State has served tens of thousands of area students since the early nineteen seventies.

Originally chartered as a community college to offer two-year associate's degree programs, Vol State has continued to expand its programs over the years, adding additional majors as well as several professional certificates. Currently, Vol State offers more than 100 academic programs to its more than 8,100 students, including high-demand majors such as mechatronics, nursing and information technology. The college also partners with local municipalities and business associations to provide numerous workforce development options that lead to highly sought after national industry certifications.

According to Vol State President Dr. Orinthia Montague, "the most popular field of study is the University Parallel program, which permits students to earn associate's degrees before transferring to four-year institutions to continue their baccalaureate pursuit."

While its primary campus is in Gallatin, Vol State has a full slate of online courses and degree programs that permit students to attend college at any time and location. The college also maintains satellite campus locations in Cookeville, Livingston, Mt. Juliet and Springfield.

Welch College

Welch college is the latest addition to the Hendersonville -area higher education landscape. Founded in Nashville in 1942 as Free Will Baptist Bible College, the school relocated to an all-new campus in nearby Gallatin, Tennessee during 2016. Welch has the distinction of being the only higher education institution in Sumner County that offers residential dormitory housing for its students.

Welch offers a variety of undergraduate degree programs as well as a graduate Master of Arts in Theology and Ministry degree. Undergraduate courses of study include Biology-Pre-Med/Pre-Nursing, Business, English, Exercise Science, History, Ministry, Psychology and Teacher Education. Welch also offers an adult degree completion program in Enriched Studies (evenings and online) as well as several online associate's and bachelor's degree options. Finally, Welch offers a "dual enrollment" option with nearby Station Camp High School whereby students can earn college credits before they graduate.

According to President J. Matthew Pinson, who has served in that role since 2002, Welch's "emphasis is upon traditional students, aged 18 to 22, seeking a 4 year on-campus residential experience." This experience is designed to be like most residential colleges and universities, including the opportunity to join social clubs (similar to fraternity and sorority "rush" activities), participate in arts and cultural events and to participate in or attend intercollegiate athletic activities such as cross-country, volleyball, basketball, golf and soccer. Along with these activities, Welch students also participate in community service activities which provides over 10,000 hours of local assistance to area agencies each year.

DIVERSE home options

FROM STARTERS AND
CONDOS TO ESTATES, AND EVERYTHING IN BETWEEN

As Hendersonville continues to grow, the demand for more diverse and robust housing options expands accordingly. And the array of home choices are certainly copious, offering something for practically everyone. From $150k starter homes to well-appointed, multi-million-dollar estates suited for CEOs and celebrities, Hendersonville can accommodate the lifestyle you want to afford. With an average home value of about $291k, Hendersonville is quite affordable compared to our counterparts South of Nashville. All while offering the safety, charm and beauty of our lakeside community, which now expands well into the countryside north of the lake.

Older homes with larger, forested properties abound in the more established Indian Lake Peninsula, a desirable location for those who appreciate a life closer to the lake. Both Indian Lake and Walton Ferry peninsulas are dotted with newer high-end developments taking advantage of prime lakefront property.

New residential developments continue to fuel the most explosive growth north of Vietnam Veterans Blvd (the 386 bypass). Expansive, walkable neighborhoods continue to emerge, such as Millstone, Durham Farms, and Saundersville Station. These neighborhoods and others offer a range of options, depending on your lifestyle needs and desires.

For those who prefer apartment living, the Indian Lake corridor offers numerous options for the more discerning dweller among the bustle of the city's shopping and dining hub.

With development, however, less space becomes available and larger tracts of land are harder to come by within the city limits. So developers have become creative with the best use of space, knowing that we are land-locked to the south by our cherished lake. But that certainly doesn't mean there are limits to your imagination. Hendersonville has a place to live for those who want to thrive in the desirable place we all love to call "home."

AN entertaining PLACE TO BE

NIGHTLIFE & FAMILY FUN APLENTY

Hendersonville has a rich entertainment legacy that has grown and evolved over the city's 53-year existence. During its early years, the city's primary entertainment connection was its nearness to Nashville. Many singers, songwriters and musicians who worked in the Music City chose to live in Hendersonville to enjoy a more laid-back lifestyle. They soon realized that the City by the Lake had much more to offer than just a quick commute to Nashville – it was filled with a beauty and grace of its own.

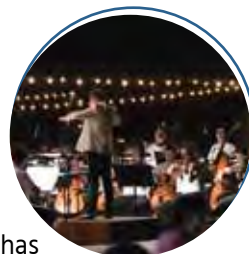

The legendary artists who have called Hendersonville home reads like a "who's who" list of the music world. Johnny and June Carter Cash, Taylor Swift, Roy Orbison and Kelly Clarkson – the list goes on and on. Today, the entertainment heritage continues, with noted A-listers such as Ricky Skaggs, the Oak Ridge Boys, Jamey Johnson and the Isaacs all having planted their roots in Hendersonville.

No longer is Hendersonville under the shadow of Nashville. Instead, the city has become a vibrant community filled with an ever-increasing array of entertainment options. Let's take a look at some of the exciting opportunities available in the City by the Lake.

Music & Nightlife

Given its history, it is no surprise that Hendersonville has become home to a burgeoning music and nightlife scene. From small, intimate venues to full-blown outdoor concerts, there is always a song in the air in Hendersonville.

Several local restaurants feature regular live performances, including the Rudder at Anchor High Marina, Puckett's Restaurant, and The Local. Foodies and music lovers come from near and far to savor some of the area's finest cuisines while relaxing to their favorite tunes.

Other musical venues across Hendersonville also offer their own brands of live music, ranging from jazz to bluegrass and country to rock and roll. The Streets at Indian Lake offers special concerts throughout the year that will please the ears of the most discerning music lovers. In addition, historic Rock Castle features critically acclaimed musical events year long.

For those who prefer their music large and loud, the Hendersonville Hometown Jam concerts are sure to please. Held at different times throughout the year at various local parks, the Jams feature the best in current and rising stars in country music. Recent concerts have featured performances by star acts such as The Isaacs, Jesse Keith Whitley, T.G. Sheppard and Kelly Lang, Jimmy Fortune, and Struggle Jennings.

Arts & Culture

Along with exciting live music performances, Hendersonville is also home to a diverse and growing arts and cultural movement. Spearheaded by the Hendersonville Arts Council, artistry and creativity are alive and well in the City by the Lake.

The prestigious Monthaven Arts & Cultural Center (MACC) is the hub of everything arts in Hendersonville. Located in a historic mansion, the MACC features year-round displays of visual art by talented painters, sculptors, crafters and other artists ranging from local school children through Picasso. The MACC also offers a full range of art classes that are appropriate for everyone, from beginners through accomplished artists.

The performing arts are also alive and well in Hendersonville, as evidenced by the outstanding productions regularly staged by the Hendersonville Performing Arts and Actor's Point Theater companies. Hendersonville theater patrons do not have to leave the city limits to enjoy outstanding comedy, drama and musical stage productions.

For those looking to have even more fun with their art, several local businesses have just the answer. Pinspiration and Painting with a Twist offer guests the opportunity to create their own personalized artwork with their friends while savoring their favorite libations.

Aspiring dancers also have plenty of opportunities to master their art in Hendersonville. Studios such as the Tutu School, WRK.PLC, Fred Astaire and World Champion Productions are eager to help students develop the skills and social graces that come through dance.

Family Fun

Family fun opportunities abound in Hendersonville, ranging from outdoor parks events to year-round indoor activities. The Strike and Spare Family Fun center offers a one-stop entertainment experience featuring bowling, indoor rides, arcade games, laser tag, roller skating and much more. All Air Extreme Trampoline Park offers the area's only indoor bounce facility, catering to groups of all sizes as well as individuals.

For those seeking to enjoy the latest in cinema releases in plush comfort, there is no place like the Regal at the Streets of Indian Lake. The 16-theater facility offers state-of-the-art sight and sound facilities, with amenities ranging from reclining seats to IMAX.

Country Club Life

Since 1951, much of the social life in Hendersonville has revolved around Bluegrass Yacht & Country Club. Founded 18 years before the incorporation of the city of Hendersonville, the club offers a number of amenities, including an 18-hole championship golf course and pro shop, a fully equipped tennis center, a junior Olympic size pool and a full-service marina.

Broadcast Entertainment

Live broadcast entertainment is also on tap in Hendersonville, with radio and television programming being regularly developed at local production studios. Radio aficionados can enjoy the best mix in music on WHIN radio, with many programs created locally at the Streets of Indian Lake.

Television enthusiasts have the opportunity to participate in the taping of the Huckabee Show each week at the Trinity Broadcasting Network studios in Hendersonville. Free tickets are available to audience members who are treated to a behind-the-scenes look at the production of the talk and music-themed program.

OUR Nashville NEIGHBOR

NEARBY SPORTS AND LEISURE

Hendersonville's continuing growth has made it the perfect place to plant roots and raise families. With friendly neighborhoods, excellent schools, outstanding parks, a thriving retail and restaurant base and a burgeoning arts and music scene, our city has much to offer.

However, for those who wish even more, the hottest city in the nation is just 20 minutes away – Nashville, aka the Music City. In recent decades, Nashville has emerged from a sleepy mid-sized town to become an entertainment and cultural juggernaut that attracts millions of visitors each year.

At one time, Nashville's primary claim to fame was being the home of country music and the Grand Ole Opry. These days, it is known for that and much more, having morphed into one of the world's most popular destination cities.

Nashville's ascendancy to "It City" status has come about due to the allure of its many business and entertainment opportunities. Today, Nashville boasts professional sports teams, world-class music venues, exciting nightclubs and lavish resort hotels. The city also serves as a world-renowned healthcare center, as well as the home for many corporate headquarters.

Fortunately, Nashville's rise has also benefitted Hendersonville and Sumner County. Local businesses have thrived in part due to the impact of Nashville's economic engine. This influence will continue to grow in the years to come, as growth and development follows a regional approach, further benefiting the cities and counties surrounding Music City.

Despite Nashville's impact, the benefits have not been one-sided. Hendersonville also contributes a great deal to the Nashville. Many key influencers call Hendersonville home, including entrepreneurs, Tennessee Titans and Grammy Award-winning artists.

There is no doubt about it, Hendersonville residents have it made. They can take advantage of all that Nashville has to offer at any time, and still return home to the beautiful City by the Lake.

EATS FOR ALL TASTES AND FOR EVERYONE

Long-time Hendersonville residents can remember the days when dining out in the city was limited to eating at local fast food or “meat and three” establishments. Folks seeking upscale dining and/or celebrating special occasions had to travel to Rivergate or downtown Nashville to grab a special meal or to have a glass of wine.

Fortunately, those days are in the past. During the past decade, Hendersonville’s rapid growth has brought many new restaurants to the area, offering a wide variety of dining styles and cuisines. Built upon the passion of a new generation of restaurateurs, these eateries offer Hendersonville diners a wide variety of dining styles and cuisines unmatched by most cities its size.

From locally owned cafes to trendy sports bars to upscale dining, the City by the Lake has it all.

Café 393 on Main

“Good food is all the sweeter when it’s shared with good friends,” is the motto of Café 393.

A delightful spot to meet others for breakfast, brunch or lunch, Café 393 serves daily homemade soups and many other flavorful, home-cooked dishes, as well as a delectable assortment of fresh-made baked items. They strive to provide a comfortable, inviting atmosphere for guests to enjoy their customized menu items and sweet treats.

Café 393 on Main is a not-to-be-missed spot for families and friends to share good times and delicious food.

OLD HICKORY lake

PLAY TIME ABOUNDS
ON THE WATER

Hendersonville is blessed to be the home of Old Hickory Lake, one of the most popular recreational areas in the state. From casual lake cruises to competitive fishing to summer afternoons filled with skiing and tubing, Old Hickory Lake has something to offer everyone.

Formed by nearby Old Hickory Dam and the Cumberland River, the lake spans over 22,500 acres in Sumner and four other adjacent counties.

With a nominal pool elevation of 445 feet above sea level, Old Hickory Lake is perfectly suited for lake and river craft of all sizes. All dam and lake operations are managed year round by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

While Old Hickory Lake is accessible from many points in Sumner County, Hendersonville is the hub, boasting over 26 miles of lakefront shoreline. In addition, Hendersonville has three marinas on the lake, Creekwood, Drakes Creek and Anchor High. These marinas offer full-service for boaters to help them get the most out of long days on the lake.

Old Hickory Lake is known to anglers around the country for its wide variety of fish, including catfish, crappie, bass and walleye. The diversity of fish coupled with easy access and navigation makes Old Hickory Lake a popular location for professional fishing tournaments.

The lake is also home to a large number of waterfowl, including herons, cranes, gulls and eagles, including the majestic Bald Eagle. There are many wooded places surrounding the lake that are ideal for birdwatchers and nature lovers, including a 23-acre wildlife viewing area located near the Lock 3 Recreation area on Walton Ferry Road.

Whether you prefer the slow pace of kayaks and canoes or the heart-pounding thrill of high-performance ski boats, Old Hickory Lake is the place to be.

ANNUAL events

EVERY TIME OF YEAR,
THERE'S ALWAYS SOMETHING GOING ON

Wonderland Egg Hunt at Historic Rock Castle

Historic Rock Castle and Hendersonville High School proudly presents the Annual Wonderland Egg Hunt each Easter Season! This event is free and includes the most magical egg hunt, crafts, games, face painting, bounce houses, and so much more! For a more intimate and VIP experience, reserve your child's spot to join the Mad Hatter Tea Party. This is an egg hunt your child will never forget!

State of the City Address

This annual event is hosted by the Hendersonville Area Chamber of Commerce every year on the first Tuesday in May. This luncheon features the State of the City Address from the Mayor of the

Middle TN Magnolia Market

Middle TN Magnolia Market is Tennessee's favorite boutique shopping experience that's right here in the heart of Hendersonville! This event is on the first Saturday in May at the Streets of Indian Lake. Grab your girls and come shop from dozens of Tennessee's favorite boutiques and food trucks.

Summer Song- writer's Night Series at Rock Castle All Summer Long

Historic Rock Castle does it

City of Hendersonville to hear a look back at the City's accomplishments over the past year, but also addressing areas improvement and vision for the next year. For more information on this event, contact the Hendersonville Area Chamber of Commerce.

again! For a relaxing night under the stars, this series provides summer nights to enjoy music, food, and local craft beers. Make sure to bring a blanket or camp chairs, to sprawl out on the lawn and enjoy Nashville's most talented and rising stars!

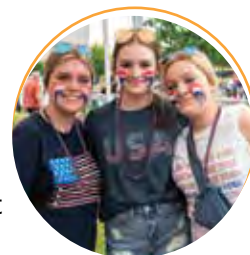

Hendersonville Farmers Market

Every Saturday all Summer long, make your way on down to Center Stage Plaza for the Hendersonville Farmers Market. Shop weekly produce, meet local farmers and stroll The Streets of Indian Lake for unique gifts and more.

Freedom Fest

Freedom Festival is Sumner County's largest Independence Day celebration. Drakes Creek Park offers expansive views of the fireworks show along with dozens of vendors and non-stop entertainment. Freedom Festival began in 2004 as a way to give back to our local schools through the Hendersonville Chamber Foundation. Join us on July third at Drakes Creek Park and let freedom ring!

Sumner Fest

Hendersonville is proudly known as the city by the lake and Sumner Fest celebrates just that. Sumner Fest is Sumner County's premier hot air balloon festival alongside the shoreline of Old Hickory Lake. Vendors, music, a kid's zone, and hot air balloons; Sumner Fest has established itself as a must-do event. Come watch hot air balloons color the sky.

Taste of Hendersonville

This event will leave you wanting more from Hendersonville's local restaurants, grocers and caterers. Hendersonville is the proud home of remarkable eateries and talented chefs.

Every September, this event gives you the opportunity to not only to sample the best local cuisine, but listen to live entertainment and enjoy a night with your family and friends. Join us in September for food and family fun.

Pumpkin Patch Festival

The annual Pumpkin Patch Festival at the Streets of Indian Lake attracts large crowds of children and their parents each year. The event features pumpkin painting, costume contests, live music, magic shows, food and merchandise vendors.

Veterans Day Parade

This annual parade will not only inspire you but will give you an opportunity to come together with the community to honor and celebrate our nations military heroes. The Veterans Day Parade begins at Drakes Creek Park and makes its way down Main Street.

In a sea of red, white and blue, the City of Hendersonville will gather to honor, remember and thank the men and women who have defended our country and freedom.

Annual Christmas Parade

Bring your chairs and hot cocoa and get ready for one of Hendersonville's most anticipated events of the year! Smile and wave as your whole family enjoy a parade of marching bands, horse-drawn floats, and of course, your favorite Christmas characters brought together with love by local families, businesses, and community organizations. This event is one you don't want to miss!

Hendersonville Christmas Boat Parade

One of the most unique Hendersonville events is the annual Deck the Hulls Christmas Boat Parade. Thousands of spectators line up along Old Hickory Lake to watch a flotilla of festive lake cruisers, each adorned with colorful lights and Christmas decorations. Prizes are awarded for the best in show boats, based upon originality and creativity.

Not all events are hosted by the Hendersonville Chamber. Please call 615-824-2818 for more information.
